

Missing children of India-
Adding hope to the life of missing children

Param Jyoti Sewa Foundation

Param Jyoti Sewa Foundation is a team of motivated individuals who want to add hope to the life of thousands of children who went missing from their home

Essential work is awareness generation

Focus area

- Millions of children go missing each year across the world
- In India, approximately 60,000 children go missing every year
- Almost all children are from the most marginalised communities, and hence face severe problem in even registering a complaint with the police

Where do missing children end up?

- On streets, on footpaths, under flyovers of cities
- On railway platforms
- In orphanages, but these have limited resources
 - They struggle to give a good education and living standards for the missing kids who reach there

What we propose

- Campaign on missing children
 - Mass awareness generation across Delhi organize
 - Street plays
 - Songs
 - Awareness in schools run by Municipal Corporation of Delhi. This was successfully done earlier

How the system will work?

- Central database: Photo records of missing children from various organizations and government agencies
- Support to parents: Photo and information gathering, and support
- Information and photos from orphanages
- Two way matching of photos to ensure the kids are found and restored to families

How the system will work?

- Foster information sharing: Thousands of families can find their lost children through the campaign
- Visual search: Done through photo identification and matching; will be a free service
- Coordination: with local and state level authorities to allocate better resources to identify missing children and send them home
- Upscale: Already doing it manually in Delhi. Will scale it up to other cities in the country

How can you help?

- Technology support
- Financial support
- Volunteering support
- Make a difference in life of thousand of missing children
